Introduction

The Equality Act 2010 And Public Sector Equality Duty

Introduction

To be treated fairly in a non-discriminatory manner is the basic right that everyone is entitled to and deserves. For South Wales Police and South Wales Police and Crime Commissioner Office, it is of fundamental importance and that is why, in the provision of our policing services, we are committed to doing all that we possibly can to ensure we meet both, the needs and expectations, of our many diverse communities.

The Force's mission is 'Keeping South Wales Safe' and its vision is to 'be the best at understanding and responding to our communities' needs'.

South Wales Police and Crime Commissioner Office shares this joint vision and is the body that oversees the work of South Wales Police. The main role of the Police and Crime Commissioner Office is to ensure that the Police Force is efficient and effective by holding it to account on behalf of the public.

The Equality Act Duties

The Equality Act 2010 (UK Specific Duties regulations) requires us to publish information to show how we are complying with the duties to:

- a) eliminate discrimination and harassment
- b) advance equality of opportunity and
- c) foster good relations between people with different protected characteristics.

The Act defines protected characteristics as:

- Age
- Disability
- Gender
- Gender Reassignment
- Marriage or civil partnership
- Pregnancy or maternity
- Race
- Religion or Belief
- Sexual orientation

The Information Presented

The information on the following pages includes data that has been collected since April 2009. Where possible this data is presented in full financial years e.g. 1st April 2012 – 31st March 2013. Information has been updated in June 2014 to include a full year of data from 1st April 2013 to 31st March 2014.

We recognise that the collection and presentation of our data is work in progress. For some areas of our work, data is not readily available and where it is, it may not currently be possible to gather it for all protected characteristics. We continue to identify gaps and to address these over time.

Welsh Language

Welsh Language monitoring information is published separately to this Equality Information and is available via www.south-wales.police.uk and www.south-wales.pcc.police.uk

The Profile of South Wales Police and Its Communities

We provide a 24-hour service, 365 days a year to ensure that we are always accessible and able to provide our communities with a service that is responsive to its needs.

Our policing area spans seven unitary authority boundaries, namely Bridgend, Cardiff, Swansea, Merthyr Tydfil, Rhondda Cynon Taff, Neath and Port Talbot and the Vale of Glamorgan. The policing area is split into four Basic Command Units which manage policing at a local level and has 42% of Wales' population.

Within our policing area of 1,283,651 residents<sup>1</sup>, 49.1% have identified themselves as male and 50.9% have identified themselves as female. In addition to the 1,283,651 residents, we recognise that the policing area comprises of a large number of University students, estimated at 100,430<sup>2</sup>, which are not captured within the census data. South Wales also attracts several million visitors annually, with Cardiff's Wales Millennium Centre being the most popular tourist attraction in Wales.

The age of the population in South Wales is fairly evenly spread, with 29.9% representing the under-25 age group, 45.8% representing the 25-59 age group and 24.3% representing the 60+ age group. 18.4% reported that possessed some knowledge of spoken or written Welsh. Census 2011 data showed that 22.9% of residents within the policing area identified themselves as having a long term illness which affected their day to day activities.

In South Wales, unemployed economically active people<sup>3</sup> make up 4.6% of the population which is an indication of the level of deprivation.

Census data showed that 6.6% of the population in South Wales reported their ethnic background as belonging to an ethnic minority, with 15.3% of the population in Cardiff and 6% in Swansea reporting an ethnic minority background. We recognise that the actual percentage may now be higher as a result of migrant workers from Eastern Europe now living in South Wales since 8 countries joined the European Union in 2004.

The highest proportion of residents (53.8%) identified themselves as being of Christian religion with 34.9% identifying themselves as having no religion. Small numbers identified their religion as being Buddhist, Hindu, Jewish, Muslim & Sikh.

There is no publicly available statistical data on the true number of people in South Wales who identify themselves as transgender, which includes transsexuals, transvestites and cross dressers, as information is not currently collected through the census or any other population count. South Wales Police works closely with Transgender Wales, TAWÉ Butterflies, MTF Wales and the National Trans Police Association.

As Census data does not ask residents to identify their sexual orientation, there is no hard data on the number of gay, lesbian and bisexual people in the UK. Government Actuaries, however, estimate that 6% of the population are gay, lesbian or bisexual<sup>4</sup>.

Introduction from the South Wales Police and Crime Commissioner

I published my Police & Crime Reduction Plan in April 2013 and during the last year have been working with my team and the Chief Constable to deliver the priorities within it. The Chief Constable and I are committed to ensuring that South Wales Police provides a fair and responsive service, which respects diversity and understands equality. This is why one of the priorities in the Plan is entitled 'Fairness, Equality, Diversity & Poverty'. We are clear within this priority that hate incident reporting should be encouraged, and that the victim satisfaction of those reporting hate incidents should increase. We are also committed to encouraging greater diversity among South Wales Police employees so that we are better able to represent our diverse communities. In conjunction with the Chief Constable, we are making progress in these areas and I will be ensuring that this continues.

The Plan also contains a priority for 'Tackling Violence against Women and Girls'. I want to work to increase the reporting of domestic abuse incidents from individuals and partners, and am keen to enhance partner and criminal justice agency working to improve our service to victims of domestic abuse and sexual violence. The Joint South Wales Police 'Plan for Tackling Violence Against Women & Girls' was published in June 2014. This sets out the actions that will be undertaken to deliver on this priority area in the Police & Crime Reduction Plan. It follows a comprehensive 'thematic review' we jointly undertook on tackling violence against women and girls in South Wales Police. This highlighted many areas of good practice, but also areas where there should be a focus on improvement – including through partnership working.

Both the Chief Constable and I have statutory duties to eliminate discrimination and promote equality in all our functions. Some of the information set out in this document links with the priorities in my Police & Crime Reduction Plan, whilst other information is vitally important at assessing how well the force is meeting its equality duties. There is no doubt that there is always room for improvement, but I hope that the transparency being promoted through the publication of this data will promote public confidence that we are committed to working towards a fair and effective police service for everyone in South Wales.

Rt Hon Alun Michael
Police & Crime Commissioner for South Wales

General Statistical Notes To Help Interpret The Tables

1. Service Delivery Information is provided for fiscal years, e.g. 2013-14 refers to the period from 1st April 2013 to 31st March 2014.
2. Workforce Information is as at 31st March 2014.
3. Where percentage changes are shown these compare old data with new data. A percentage change indicates the change in a value over time and is calculated by subtracting the old value from the new value and dividing by the old value. In this report, percentage changes have been used where appropriate to show changes over time. However, percentage changes have not been shown where the numbers are small (generally where the numbers are below 100) as they can be misleading.
4. The population data used is from the 2011 Census.
5. This is the third year that Equality Monitoring data has been published to this level of detail. In a number of areas, data collection and completeness will continue to be progressed and the information will continue to develop over the coming months and years.
6. Data Quality is an issue within any integrated IT management system and the Force continues to review its implementation of processes and procedures to improve data integrity.
7. Equality data is used to inform priorities for South Wales Police and the South Wales Police and Crime Commissioner. Examples of ways in which this has taken place can be found in Section 10 (Using Equality Data to Make a Difference).

Victim Satisfaction

Note: This chart shows the rolling 12 month satisfaction level. This means that every point on the chart relates to the 12 months of data up to and including that month i.e. the January 2013 data point relates to victim satisfaction for the period February 2012 to January 2013. This enables the underlying trend to be seen by removing the effect of any seasonal fluctuations.

2. Hate Crime

The term Hate Crime is used within South Wales Police to refer to hate related incidents and hate crimes. The Association of Chief Police Officers defines a hate incident as “Any incident, which may or may not constitute a criminal offence, which is perceived by the victim or any other person, as being motivated by prejudice or hate.” A hate crime is defined specifically as “Any incident, which constitutes a criminal offence, perceived by the victim or any other person, as being motivated by prejudice or hate.”

We follow the guidance of the Ministry of Justice and the Home Office and formally monitor hate crime by the following five categories – disability, faith, race, sexual orientation and transgender.

Dealing with all aspects of Hate Crime is a key priority for South Wales Police and measures to combat Hate Crime feature prominently in the Police and Crime Commissioner’s Policing Plan, the Chief Constable’s Delivery Plan and the South Wales Police Strategic Equality Plan 2012-2016.

South Wales Police has a Hate Crime Policy and Guidance which provide clear direction to all South Wales Police officers and staff on identifying hate crime and outlines responsibilities and procedures when dealing with victims.

Hate Crime Training development, delivery and review continues with training being provided for both officers and staff by means including both formal training courses and e-learning services.

Early intervention when responding to Hate Crimes is of paramount importance to ensure that perpetrators are identified and dealt with and victims are supported appropriately. A key element of the training has therefore been the emphasis on the importance of recognising the hate aspect of an occurrence and the impact this has not only on the victim and their family but on the wider community, which may lead to a breakdown in community cohesion.

In addition to this, during the last year the Crown Prosecution Service Wales, in partnership with South Wales Police, continued its delivery of a series of awareness sessions to officers and staff that focused on Bringing Hate Crime Offenders to Justice.

The sessions were designed to raise awareness of effective practice for the successful prosecution of hate crimes and provided guidance on matters including - flagging a crime as a Hate Crime; the evidential test and the public interest test; key hate crime legislation and definitions and considering when S146 may be applicable; special measures for vulnerable and intimidated witnesses and building hate crime cases for prosecution.

Through our Neighbourhood Policing structure, community engagement under the control of a Local Policing Inspector is the fundamental principle of how South Wales Police, together with our Partner agencies, deliver a service to make South Wales Safe. On a daily basis Neighbourhood Policing Teams interact with community members to tackle prejudice and stereotyping and specialist Hate Crime Officers visit and speak with victims of hate crime offering advice and support.

Supporting victims is a fundamental aspect of our response to Hate Crime. The officer responding to a report of a Hate Crime undertakes a risk assessment with the victim and the result of this assessment assists the determination of the appropriate response and support to be provided to the victim.

Hate Crime Officers provide specific support in working with the Officer in the Case and partner agencies. Support measures that may be considered are many and varied and are determined by an Action Plan overseen by the Local Policing Inspector and a Basic Command Unit (BCU) Hate Crime Review Group meeting chaired by a member of Senior Management. These meetings enable the close scrutiny of Hate Crime occurrences by senior managers and ensure all necessary actions are completed.

South Wales Police has also developed a Hate Crime Development Plan which is reflective of a number of National and Local recommendations and will be implemented over a three year period.

Hate Crimes and Incidents

The following table show the five protected characteristics of hate related incidents (and crimes) recorded and monitored by the Force as part of its statutory duty:

	Incidents			Crimes
Protected Characteristics	2012-13 <sup>6</sup>	2013-14 <sup>6</sup>	%Change	2012-13 <sup>6</sup>	2013-14 <sup>6</sup>	%Change
Race	1,419	1,523	7.3%	807	878	8.8%
Sexual Orientation	290	310	6.9%	121	161	33.1%
Disability	260	273	5.0%	81	100	23.5%
Religion and Belief	46	95	106.5%	26	56	115.4%
Transgender	36	61	69.4%	9	29	222.2%
Hate*	1,984	2,164	9.1%	1,019	1,160	13.8%

* A single hate incident may qualify for one or more protected characteristics. Consequently it is not logical to add up incidents of more than one different protected characteristic. The same applies to hate crimes.

- There has been a 9% increase in the reporting of hate related incidents in the last year.
- Religion and Belief and Transgender hate incidents have increased by the greatest proportions but as the numbers are so small the percentage increases are not as significant as they might appear.
- Race related incidents account for 70% of all reported hate incidents and have increased by 7.3%.

Victim Satisfaction Levels

Victim Satisfaction: Whole Experience - Racist Incident and Hate Crime Victims

Note: This chart shows the rolling 12 month satisfaction level. This means that every point on the chart relates to the 12 months of data up to and including that month i.e. the January 2013 data point relates to victim satisfaction for the period February 2012 to January 2013. This enables the underlying trend to be seen by removing the effect of any seasonal fluctuations.

3. Domestic Abuse

The definition of domestic abuse changed in April 2013 and now identifies that:

“Domestic Abuse is any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive or threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over, who are or have been intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality”.

This can encompass, but is not limited to, the following types of abuse: “Psychological, Physical, Sexual, Financial and Emotional”.

Controlling behaviour is defined as: “A range of acts designed to make a person subordinate and/or dependent by isolating them from sources of support, exploiting their resources and capacities for personal gain, depriving them of the means needed for independence, resistance and escape and regulating their everyday behaviour”.

Coercive behaviour is defined as: “An act or a pattern of acts of assault, threats, humiliation and intimidation or other abuse that is used to harm, punish, or frighten their victim”.

Family members are defined as: “Mother, father, son, daughter, brother, sister and grandparents, whether directly related, in-laws or step family”.

This definition, which is not a legal definition, includes 'honour' based violence, female genital mutilation (FGM) and forced marriage, and is clear that victims are not confined to one gender or ethnic group.

South Wales Police is committed to:

- Developing responses that keep people safe
- Investigating all reports effectively, to bring offenders to justice and hold them accountable for their actions without stereotyping, stigmatising or making assumptions about any given individual or community
- Dealing with victims effectively and by conducting thorough a risk assessment processes with victims, endeavour to reduce the likelihood of future harm, including homicide, serious injury and acts of violence.
- Providing victims with a level of service that gives them the confidence to report incidents

During 2013-14 the force has increased the number of locally based, specialist trained officers in order to provide South Wales Police with greater resilience and expertise in supporting victims of Honour Based Violence / Forced Marriage (HBV/FM). Having identified this need, last year South Wales Police engaged with Karma Nirvana to develop and deliver an Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage training program.

This led to a new three day course, delivered to selected South Wales Police personnel and representatives from Gwent, Dyfed Powys and North-Wales Police.

The course was designed to equip officers to:

- understand the concept of, motives for and identify incidents and victims of HBV and FM abuse
- understand the barriers faced by victims
- understand how to respond, investigate and handle cases
- conduct risk assessments and safety planning and provision.

Karma Nirvana also supported South Wales Police in a revision of its HBV Risk Assessment, producing a more comprehensive and effective tool for enabling officers to determine the level of Risk to a victim.

South Wales Police is committed to giving victims of Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage a level of service that gives them the confidence to report incidents. We recognise Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage as fundamental breaches of Human Rights.

Domestic Abuse Incidents by Force and Basic Command Unit (BCU) <sup>5</sup>

In April 2013, there was a clarification of the relationships which were to be considered as falling within the Domestic Abuse definition, e.g. Uncle and Aunt do not meet the criteria. In July 2013, the force made the decision to stop including "Verbal altercation only" within Domestic Abuse, as this did not fit the Home Office definition of Domestic Abuse. Both of these changes reduced the number of incidents. A final change was the Home Office extension of the minimum age from 18 years old to 16 years old. Anything younger will be recorded as Child Abuse.

The following domestic abuse incidents met the Home Office Counting Rules definition of a criminal offence.

Forced Marriage and Honour Based Violence

The CPS and ACPO have a common definition of Honour Based Violence:

"Honour based violence" is a crime or incident, which has or may have been committed to protect or defend the honour of the family and/or community'.

This definition is supported by further explanatory text:

"Honour Based Violence" is a fundamental abuse of Human Rights.

There is no honour in the commission of murder, rape, kidnap and the many other acts, behaviour and conduct which make up "violence in the name of so-called honour".

Honour Based Violence can be distinguished from other forms of violence, as it is often committed with some degree of approval and/or collusion from other members of the family and those of the same culture in the surrounding community.

A Forced Marriage is one in which at least one party does not consent to the marriage and some element of duress is involved.

Over the last year, South Wales Police has reviewed its Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage risk assessment and safety planning processes and provided specialist training for a number of officers in key roles.

The training has equipped those officers to:

- understand the concept of, motives for and identify incidents and victims of Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage abuse
- understand the barriers faced by victims
- understand how to respond, investigate and manage cases
- conduct risk assessments, safety plan and provide the appropriate support to victims.

The officers who attended the training were those who had been nominated to undertake specialist activities in cases of Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage and who had not previously had the training or experience to enable them to do so. South Wales Police also invited officers to attend and represent the Dyfed-Powys, Gwent and North Wales forces.

The training has provided an increased number of officers capable of identifying cases, conducting risk assessments and giving tactical advice to supervisors and managers on case management and investigation and victim support measures.

South Wales Police continues to work closely with national and locally based charities and victim support organisations that provide valuable support services to victims, including refuge accommodation, in order to provide the most effective response to reports of Honour Based Violence and Forced Marriage.

During the financial year 2012-13, females represented 17.6% of the total number of people arrested and for 2013-14 to date this percentage increased slightly to 18.3%. For both genders more than three quarters of the people arrested were aged 21 and over.

Compared to males, a higher percentage of females arrested were between the ages of 11 and 17 and a slightly lower percentage of females arrested were between the ages of 18 and 20. This pattern was observed in both financial years.

During 2013-14 more of the offenders taken into custody (male and female) were within the 21 plus age bracket when compared to 2012-13.

Intoxication on arrest

Flexible Working Applications

Year	Number of Applications
2013-14	182

For 2 of these applications, it is not known whether they are police staff, PCSOs or police officers so this data is not included in the following tables.

Police Specials are volunteers and only work a specific number of hours per month and therefore do not have to apply for flexible working, which is only available for Full and Part time employees of South Wales Police.

Language skills – Welsh

The Welsh Association of Chief Police Officers (WACPO) and South Wales Police have adopted the principle that in the conduct of public business and the administration of justice in Wales, the Police Service will treat the English and Welsh languages on a basis of equality.

Therefore South Wales Police ask their employees to self assess their level of Welsh as per the below guide.

Level 1	Greet, introduce and open and close conversations. Say place names, first names and signs correctly. Recognise departments, locations and ranks. Give and receive personal details. Open and close meetings and write simple requests.
Level 2	Understand essence of conversation and respond to simple requests. Convey basic information and transfer telephone calls. Partly contribute in meetings. Write simple notes of request.
Level 3	Understand much in an office or meeting. Take details and pass on messages. Converse partly in Welsh and respond to general enquiries over the phone and face to face. Present partly in Welsh at meetings. Write informal memos and e-mails and deal with routine requests.
Level 4	Contribute effectively and provide presentations in meetings. Deal with complex enquiries and complaints. Interview or question in the course of an investigation. Deal confidently with hostile questions and confrontations. Write reports and make full and accurate notes.
Level 5	Contribute effectively and provide presentations in meetings. Deal with complex enquiries and complaints. Interview or question in the course of an investigation. Deal confidently with hostile questions and confrontations. Write reports and make full and accurate notes. Interview applicants for posts and assess suitability.
	No Welsh language ability

8. Diversity Training

South Wales Police provide 'stand alone' Diversity training in the following areas for their officers and staff. This portfolio includes programmes and courses such as Hate Crime Prosecutors, Leadership and People and the Positive Action Leadership Programme, tailored for under represented staff in the organisation. Other Diversity themed packages outlined also include 'Being a Leader' course (which includes an integrated Diversity Day for Sergeants, Team leaders and aspiring leaders), initial training for PCSOs and Police Officers and a Policing Complex Communities course.

Bringing Hate Crime Offenders to Justice

A Collaborative input delivered by Justice & Partnerships Department of South Wales Police and the Crown Prosecution Service, that focuses on building on the Identifying and Managing Hate Crime Courses that were delivered during 2010 / 2011. The 90 minute sessions are designed to raise awareness of effective practice for the successful prosecution of hate crimes. The programme includes learning outcomes such as, flagging a crime as a Hate Crime, the evidential test and the public interest test, key hate crime legislation and considering when S146 may be applicable, special measures for vulnerable/intimidated witnesses and building hate crime cases for prosecution.

Leadership and People

Leadership and People is a three day interactive course for middle management (police officers and staff) that enhances attendees' ability to effectively manage diversity related experiences in the workplace. It provides the opportunity to explore a variety of managerial issues and how to develop a culture that promotes equality and values diversity. This course highlights changes in discrimination legislation and what it means to managers.

Positive Action Leadership Programme (Collaboration of Southern Welsh Forces)

The above programme is aimed at members of groups that are under-represented in the police service up to and including the rank of Inspector and police staff grade equivalent. This is the first inclusive, positive action, initiative to be made available to all officers and police staff from under-represented groups as part of a collaboration between the southern Welsh forces. Topics included in this course are Positive Action, Self awareness and Personal Leadership, Personal Leadership and Branding, Communication, Assertiveness and Influencing, Mentoring, Coaching and Networking, Action Learning and Next Steps and Career Development. The programme also includes the opportunity for attendees to establish their Myers Briggs Type Indicator, and to embark on a coaching taster session, that attendees can choose to extend, if they so wish.

Policing Complex Communities

This is two day interactive course that develops the skills of front line officers and staff in understanding and providing an effective policing service to Muslim communities. Drawing on the knowledge and expertise of renowned community representatives, this course will develop students' understanding and gain insight into engagement, beliefs and cultural practices.

Initial Police Learning and PCSOs (integrated Diversity Programme)

Newly recruited police officers and PCSOs are given a two day delivery on Equality and Diversity which covers subject matter such as, prejudice and discrimination, the benefits of diversity in the work place/community, the needs of individual and preferred communication styles, values and beliefs, the effect of inequality and discrimination and equality legislation. PCSOs and student officers have an in depth input on models such as Massey's, Allports, Withdraw, Acquiesce and Resist, Basic Assumptions, Ethnocentrism Paradigm of Prejudice and Scaling and Rating. These sessions set the tone of the South Wales Police expectation of behaviour for their staff; students explore their own values and perception through Massey's and Ethnocentrism. They also explore paradigm of prejudice, the fact that prejudice is innate in all of us. Questions are posed to students regarding where there are, and where they think they should sit within the paradigm, what the impact that prejudice can have if it is acted upon. Here, students begin to understand the impact of their own values on their attitude and behaviour, and what consequences prejudice and stereotyping could have on their actions in their prospective roles.

Students also visit various faith centres and participate in a community Interface carousel. Recruits also participate in a placement within the community, which includes organisations such as BVSMW, Valley Kids and People's First. Various organisations also provide role players to the PCSO and Initial Programme for the policing practicals new recruits undertake in their training, so they can be exposed to policing scenarios and dealing with difference.

Public Service Centre (PSC) Equality and Diversity

New recruits to the Public Service Centre undertake a two day equality and diversity course as part of their initial training. Day 1 looks at some of the theory and models associated with equality and diversity practice, whilst day 2 sees students meet members of our diverse communities.

The table shows the diversity related courses that were held in 2013/14.

Other Training April 2013 - March 2014

Training Course	Description
Coaching for Performance	This two day programme explores questioning techniques and facilitative skills that empower those involved and actively encourages accountability of individuals. It explores a style of management that makes the individual look at themselves and steers them towards action. These techniques can be especially invaluable to address working relationships, communication, behavioural and attitudinal barriers.
Specialist Courses	Specialist courses in investigative training regularly use guest speakers from the community to give a different community perspective, and what police officers may have to anticipate and consider when dealing with different sections of the community. Firearms works closely with mental health charity MIND, to inform their training surrounding mental health issues and how they impact on the individuals in question. Firearms officers look specifically at the different conditions and their impact. Students consider how to adapt their policing style to deal more effectively with individuals that are emotionally distressed, or have mental health issues. This is to ensure that officers can learn to avoid emotional triggers in firearms incidents.

9. Calendar of Diversity Related Events

In addition to providing diversity training, South Wales Police holds a number of awareness raising events for all staff each year, together with development days for those who belong to under-represented groups. South Wales Police also utilises the Force intranet and the staff magazine to promote equality across the protected characteristics. Recent articles and publications have promoted Religious and Cultural Festivals, Holocaust Memorial Day, International Day against Homophobia (IDAHO) and Dyslexia Awareness Week.

The Force has also made a series of booklets and Guides to internally promote equality across the protected characteristics. The series of booklets focus on the achievements of people who have succeeded regardless of their protected characteristic. These booklets are available to view in hard copy on staff notice boards throughout the Force and in electronic format on the Equality & Diversity intranet pages.

In addition to internal promotion of diversity, we hold a number of diversity events to allow us to involve and consult with our communities in relation to work that the Force is doing and proposes to do that may have an impact on them.

The following table shows some of the events either held or attended to help promote equality and diversity matters for all and to foster relations with under-represented groups.

10. Using Equality Data to Make a Difference

The purpose of collecting and monitoring equality data is to identify trends and any potential disparities which may arise. Where equality data or information highlights an issue of potential concern, action can then be taken to address the problem or to make steps towards making positive progress that will make a difference.

South Wales Police monitors the equality information presented in this document on a regular basis. An example of the way in which the information has led to action and change is presented below.

Issue of Interest	Issue Highlighted in data	Action taken by South Wales Police or South Wales Police Authority
BME and Gender representation in the workforce	South Wales Police is under-represented in respect of ethnicity compared to the local population and female officers at South Wales Police are also under-represented at senior ranks	South Wales Police aim to employ a representative workforce that reflects the makeup of our communities in order that we fully understand and are able to respond to our communities' needs. This year, a new strategic equality objective has been added to the existing equality objectives as set out within the Force Strategic Equality Plan 2012 – 2016 to address the issue of workforce representation and focus recruitment, retention and progression activity, particularly for BME and female officers and staff.

Improvement of data

We recognise that the collection and presentation of our data is work in progress. For some areas of our work data is not readily available and where it is, it may not currently be possible to gather it for all protected characteristics. We will continue to work to identify gaps and have already addressed some gaps where practicable. We will work to address outstanding gaps in data over time.
